Pre-Psychology Major Requirements

Students may declare the Pre-psychology major once they have established a prep GPA by taking at least one prep course for a letter grade at UCLA and have an average prep GPA of 2.5 or higher.

All of the following Procedures and Requirements are strictly enforced:

- A C or better is required in Psychology 10, Psychology 100A and Psychology 100B. A C- or better is required in the other preparation courses. All courses must be taken for a letter grade.
- The seven preparation courses must be completed by the end of the Fall quarter of the 3rd year after the student has entered UCLA.
- Repetition of any preparation course more than once results in automatic denial of admission to the major.
- Repetition of more than any two preparation courses results in automatic denial of admission to the major.

Entry into the Psychology Major

- Once all preparation for the major courses are complete a student may submit an application to declare major standing. The earliest students are allowed to apply for entry into the major is at the beginning of Summer during their 1st year. The latest students are allowed to apply for entry is Fall quarter of their 3rd year.
- Acceptance into the major is based solely on grades in the seven preparation courses listed above.
- Students must have a minimum of a 2.5 prep GPA to be eligible to apply. Students who have a 2.9 prep GPA or higher will be guaranteed entry into the major. Only grades for courses taken at UC can be factored into this GPA.
Psychology Major Requirements

An overall GPA of 2.00 (C) is required in the upper division courses. A grade of C- or better is required in each Core and Laboratory course. All Core, Laboratory, and Elective courses must be taken for a letter grade.

Five (5) Core Courses

Select at least two courses from each column and the remaining core course can be from either Column A or B for a total of five core courses:
