General Information

Types of Financial Support

UCLA Fellowships & Grants: Merit-based awards provide stipends in varying amounts and may include tuition, fees and nonresident supplemental tuition. Awards are competitive and open to all graduate students.

Extramural Fellowships: Merit-based support provided by national, international or private foundations. Many organizations accept applications up to a year before acceptance into a graduate program.

Financial Aid: Funding based on financial need available only to U.S. citizens and permanent residents. Financial aid includes loans and work-study awards. For more information, go to www.fao.ucla.edu.

Graduate Work-Study Program (GWSP): Provides federal work-study grants to “financially need eligible” U.S. citizen and permanent resident graduate students to complete on- or off-campus part-time paid internships, community service, research projects or other endeavors closely related to their academic degree program. Graduate students working on a research project in their discipline qualify for funding. For more information contact the Fellowships and Financial Services Office, 1228 Murphy Hall, (310) 825-1025, www.grad.ucla.edu/gss/library/gwspintro.htm.

Teaching & Research Assistantships: Teaching Assistantships provide experience in teaching undergraduates with faculty supervision. Graduate Student Researcher positions provide experience working on faculty-supervised research projects. Selection of awardees for teaching assistantships, graduate student research positions, tuition and registration fee grants, and nonresident supplemental tuition fellowships is conducted by each department. Students should contact their department for Application Procedures and deadlines. For more information see the Academic Apprentice Personnel Manual (www.grad.ucla.edu/gss/appm/appmintro.htm).

Professional Degree Supplemental Tuition: Students in professional degree programs such as but not limited to Architecture, Art, Film and Television, Law, Management, Nursing, Public Health, Public Policy, Social Welfare, Theater and Urban and Regional Planning also pay Professional Degree Supplemental Tuition and other program-related fees, depending on the program. Coverage from Graduate Division-funded fellowships excludes these professional and program-related charges.

A student may receive both a departmental or Graduate Division award and an award based solely on financial need if the need-based criteria are met. For all Graduate Division awards, students must be registered and enrolled full-time each term (minimum of 12 units) and maintain at least a 3.0 grade point average (2.50 for Law School students). For departmental allocation awards, full-time enrollment is 8 units.

During the academic year, all Graduate Division fellowship recipients may work up to 25% time. Employment over 25% time requires a letter of exception.

Students are strongly urged to apply in all categories for which they may qualify.

Notification and Acceptance of Awards

Students are notified as soon as award decisions are made, from spring through early fall. Notification of a teaching assistantship, graduate student researcher appointment, or departmental fellowship is sent directly by the department.

As a member of the Council of Graduate Schools in the United States, UCLA subscribes to the following CGS resolution regarding acceptance of graduate scholarships, fellowships, traineeships, and assistantships:

“Acceptance of an offer of financial aid (such as a graduate scholarship, fellowship, traineeship, or assistantship) for the next academic year by an actual or prospective graduate student completes an agreement which both student and graduate school expect to honor. In those instances in which the student accepts the offer before April 15 and subsequently desires to withdraw, the student may submit in writing a resignation of the appointment at any time through April 15. However, an acceptance given or left in force after April 15 commits the student not to accept another offer without first obtaining a written release from the institution to which a commitment has been made. Similarly, an offer by an institution after April 15 is conditional on presentation by the student of the written release from any previously accepted offer. It is further agreed by the institutions and organizations subscribing to the above resolution that a copy of this resolution should accompany every scholarship, fellowship, traineeship, and assistantship offer.”

Supplementation

Supplementation refers to the amount and type of funding that students can accept from more than one source. Supplementation of fellowships and traineeships funded by federal, state, or private agencies is restricted by the limits set forth by the particular agency. Recipients of these awards should consult the appropriate agency for complete information. The Graduate Division Supplementation policy can be found on the web at www.grad.ucla.edu/asis/infoserv/supplem.htm. Other questions regarding the supplementation policy at UCLA can be referred to staff in the Fellowships and Financial Services Office, 1228 Murphy Hall, (310) 825-1025.

Maximum Limit of Merit-Based Support

The Graduate Council has established a Policy of Maximum Limit on the total amount of support a graduate student may receive. It includes any fee/tuition awards, special fellowships, remissions, stipends, and TA/RA earnings. The maximum limit will vary for each student. Please see www.gdnet.ucla.edu/gss/library/maxsupport.htm.

To calculate the maximum limit of support that a student may receive, use the following equation:

Maximum Limit = Tuition & Fees + [1.75 (Room/Board + Books + Travel + Personal + Add-Ons)]

Need-based stipend is the estimated budget for living expenses established by the Financial Aid Office and published annually in the UCLA Application for Graduate Admission. The limits are generous. If an exception to the Maximum Limit is required, the department must submit a letter of exception to the Graduate Division.

Tax Treatment of Student Financial Support

Fellowship stipend income is taxed differently than most other types of income students may have encountered in the past. Amounts spent on fees, tuition, or required course expenses are not taxable. However, the portion of fellowship stipend income spent on items other than fees, tuition, and required course expenses will likely be considered taxable by the IRS. The language used to denote an award—for example, fellowship, grant, assistantship, scholarship, traineeship—does not affect the taxability of the funds.

U.S. citizens, permanent residents, and resident aliens for federal tax purposes do not have taxes withheld from their fellowship stipend checks. Nonetheless, these individuals may be required to make estimated quarterly tax payments and to report the income on their tax returns. Awardees should consult a tax preparer and/or view the information provided in Internal Revenue Service Publication 970 (www.irs.gov/Forms-&-Pubs).

Students are advised to retain “Offer of Graduate Student Support” agreements, fellowship and traineeship offer letters, BAR monthly statements and other documents and receipts related to fellowship stipends and course expenses. The UCLA Dashew Center for International Students & Scholars (www.internationalcenter.ucla.edu) offers workshops regarding tax preparation during winter quarter to international students and scholars.

Tax information is available at:

- www.grad.ucla.edu/gss/library/taxintro.htm
- IRS Publication 970, “Tax Benefits for Education,” at www.irs.gov.
- IRS Publication 505, “Tax Withholding and Estimated Tax,” at www.irs.gov.

California Residency Requirement

Students must petition in person at the Registrar’s Office for a change of classification from nonresident to resident status. All changes of status must be initiated prior to the first day of class in the term for which the student intends to be reclassified. In addition, California law requires that financial independence be included among the factors considered when students seek reclassification. Students who are financially dependent in the current and preceding calendar years will be considered California residents for reclassification purposes only if no factors exist that give evidence of their continuing residence in another state. Financial independence will not be considered for graduate students who are graduate student instructors, teaching assistants, research assistants or teaching associates employed at 49% time or more. For more information on residency requirements please visit: www.registrar.ucla.edu/faq/residencefaq.htm

Reduced Nonresident Supplemental Tuition

Nonresident supplemental tuition (NRST) for doctoral students who have advanced to candidacy is automatically reduced by 100% for up to three years beginning the quarter following the term in which the student formally advances to candidacy. This benefit is only available to nonresident PhD candidates. Graduate students enrolled in professional doctoral programs that do not have an advancement to candidacy requirement (e.g., JD, MD, DDS, etc.) are not eligible.

If a student is still enrolled and registered beyond the three years, per University of California policy the NRST will be reinstated as of the tenth quarter. If the student is receiving a Graduate Division-administered fellowship at the time the NRST is reinstated, the stipend portion of the fellowship will be applied toward the NRST unless there's another NRST-payment source on record.

Nondiscrimination Statement

The University of California, in accordance with applicable Federal and State Laws and University Policies, does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, national origin, religion, sex, disability, age, medical condition (e.g., cancer-related), ancestry, marital status, citizenship, sexual orientation or status as a Vietnam-era veteran or special disabled veteran. The University also prohibits sexual harassment. This nondiscrimination policy covers admission, access and treatment in University programs and activities.

Inquiries regarding the University's student-related nondiscrimination policies may be directed to the UCLA Campus Counsel, 3149 Murphy Hall, Los Angeles, CA 90095-1405, (310) 825-4042.

Inquiries regarding Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA) or 504 compliance may be directed to Monroe Gorden, ADA and 504 Compliance Officer, 2221 Murphy Hall, UCLA, Box 951410, Los Angeles, CA 90095-1410, (310) 825-1514 or (310) 825-2242, TTY (310) 206-3349, www.ada.ucla.edu.

Students may complain about any action they believe discriminates against them on the grounds of race, color, national origin, marital status, sex, sexual orientation, disability or age, and may contact the Office of the Dean of Students, 1206 Murphy Hall and/or refer to Section 111.00 of the University of California Policies Applying to Campus Activities, Organizations, and Students (available in 1206 Murphy Hall) or visit www.universityofcalifornia.edu/news for further information and procedures.

Disclosure of Student Records

Pursuant to the Federal Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act (FERPA), the California Education Code and the University of California Policies Applying to the Disclosure of Information from Student Records, students at UCLA have the right (1) to inspect and review records pertaining to themselves in their capacity as students, except as the right may be waived or qualified under the Federal and State Laws and the University Policies, (2) to have withheld from disclosure, absent their prior consent for release, personally identifiable information from their student records, except as provided by the federal and state laws and university policies, (3) to inspect records maintained by UCLA of disclosures of personally identifiable information from their student records, (4) to seek correction of their student records through a request to amend the records or, if such request is denied, through a hearing and (5) to file complaints with the U.S. Department of Education regarding alleged violations of the rights accorded them by the Federal Act.

UCLA, in accordance with the federal and state laws and the university policies, has designated the following categories of personally identifiable information as “public information” that UCLA may release and publish without the student’s prior consent: name; address (local/ mailing, permanent and/ or email); telephone numbers; major field of study; dates of attendance; number of course units in which enrolled; degrees and honors received; the most recent previous educational institution attended; participation in officially recognized activities (including intercollegiate athletics) and the name, weight and height of participants on intercollegiate athletic teams.

Students who do not wish certain items (e.g., name; local/ mailing, permanent and/or email address; telephone numbers; major field of study; dates of attendance; number of course units in which enrolled and degrees and honors received) of this “public information” released and published may so indicate through URSA OnLine (www.ursa.ucla.edu). To restrict the release and publication of the additional items in the category of “public information,” complete the UCLA FERPA Restriction Request form available from Enrollment and Degree Services, 1113 Murphy Hall.

Student records that are the subject of the federal and state laws and the university policies may be maintained in a variety of offices, including the Registrar’s Office, Office of the Dean of Students, UCLA Career Center, Graduate Division, and the offices of a student’s college or school and major department. Students are referred to the UCLA Telephone Directory, which lists all the offices that may maintain student records, together with their campus address and telephone number. Students have the right to inspect their student records in any such office subject to the terms of the federal and state laws and the University policies. Inspection of student records maintained by the Registrar’s Office is by appointment only and must be arranged three working days in advance. Call (310) 825-1354 or inquire at Academic Record Services, 1134 Murphy Hall.

A copy of the federal and state laws, the university policies and the UCLA Telephone Directory may be inspected in the office of the Information Practices Coordinator, 530 UCLA Wilshire Center. Information concerning students’ hearing rights may be obtained from that office and from the Office of the Dean of Students, 1206 Murphy Hall.

In addition to the public information described above, information related to students’ Social Security Number, sex, marital status and the name(s), address(es) and telephone number(s) of their parents or next of kin are made available to the UCLA External Affairs Department for use in alumni, development and public relations activities. To restrict the release of this additional information, complete a Request for University Relations Information Restriction form available from Enrollment and Degree Services, 1113 Murphy Hall.

UCLA Fellowships

Students are encouraged to consult their departments for possible deadline variations. All required letters of recommendation and supporting documents should be sent directly to the major department. The required Graduate Fellowships Letter of Recommendation Cover Form (www.grad.ucla.edu/asis/stusup/letterrec.pdf) must be filled out in full, including signature from applicant and recommender. Forms without signatures will be considered an incomplete application, and incomplete applications will not be reviewed.

Eligibility to Receive a Fellowship

Students receiving Graduate Division Fellowship awards (e.g., Graduate Research Mentorship, any of the Privately Endowed Fellowships, Dissertation Year Fellowship, etc.) are required to be enrolled in a minimum of 12 units per term for the duration of their fellowship. They must also maintain satisfactory progress in their degree program with a cumulative 3.0 GPA (2.5 for Law students).

If a student withdraws or takes a Leave of Absence, the award is subject to cancellation for the quarter(s) or semester(s) in which the student is not enrolled.

All Graduate Division fellowship recipients may work up to 25% time. Employment over 25% time requires a letter of exception. Some extramural fellowship agencies require awardees to get preapproval from the agency before the work can be approved (e.g., Ford Foundation, Jacob Javits Fellowship), even at 25%. Check with Fellowships & Financial Services to get the details: uclafellowship@grad.ucla.edu or 310-825-1025.

Award	Fall, Winter, Spring	Summer
Cota-Robles	25% 50% by exception (Spring only, ASE, GSR, or ASE/GSR but not 50% ASE)	100%
Graduate Opportunity Fellowship Program (GOFP)	25% 50% by exception (Spring only, ASE, GSR, or ASE/GSR but not 50% ASE)	100%
Graduate Research Mentorship Program (GRM)	25% 50% by exception (GSR or ASE/GSR but not 50% ASE)	100%
Dissertation Year Fellowship (DYF)	25%	25% (if activating in the summer)

Graduate Summer Research Mentorship Program (GSRM)	N/A	25% 50% by exception (GSR or GSR/ASE but not 50% ASE)
All extramural fellowships providing $18K stipend or more, such as NSF GRFP, Ford, Javits, HHMI, NIH, NRSA, etc.	25%	25%

Students funded during the summer must have been registered/enrolled during the previous Spring Term and must be registered/enrolled during the following Fall. If not registered/enrolled, the summer award will be cancelled and will need to be repaid.

Please note that students in the following self-supporting, special fee programs are not eligible to apply for any Graduate Division fellowships:

- Architecture –M.Arch II SUPRASTUDIO
- Education Leadership Program
- Engineering Online Master’s Program
- Management – Executive MBA
- Management – Fully Employed MBA (FEMBA)
- Management – Global Executive MBA for Asia Pacific
- Management – Global Executive MBA for the Americas
- Management – Master’s of Financial Engineering
- Management – MBA
- Public Health – Executive Master’s of Public Health
- Public Health – Master’s of Public Health for Health Professionals

Changes Effective with the 2014–15 Cycle

Graduate Summer Research Mentorship awardees are expected to complete and submit to the Graduate Division a draft of a paper (either single-authored by the student or co-authored with the faculty mentor) by the end of the summer.

Graduate Summer Research Mentorship and Graduate Research Mentorship awardees (including Cota-Robles2 awardees) may not receive the Research Travel Grant Pilot Program funding during the same year they are applying for their GSRM/GRM Conference Travel Reimbursement.

Dissertation Year Fellowship recipients may not receive the Research Travel Grant Pilot Program funding.

The Center for the Study of Women/Graduate Division Irving & Jean Stone Dissertation Year Fellowship will not be offered due to lack of funding.

Concurrent Awards/Fellowships

Recipients offered other awards (e.g., from extramural agencies or department allocations) in addition to the offer of Graduate Division-administered fellowships may, at the Graduate Division's or department's discretion, be required to relinquish all or part of the Graduate Division-administered award. In most cases a student may not hold multiple academic-year stipends from the Graduate Division or from the Graduate Division and another source that total more than a specified amount. For example, in 2013-14, the maximum allowable support from all merit-based sources for a single person living off campus is $11,289.25 for the summer (July through September) and $37,065 for the academic year (October through June). Also, a student may not receive a combination of fee/tuition awards that total more than the cost of fees/tuition. For more information, see www.gdnet.ucla.edu/gss/library/maxsupport.htm.

Graduate Summer Research Mentorship Program
Deadline	February 19, 2014
Amount	$6,000 stipend. Additionally, if invited to present results of the mentored activities at a conference, awardees will be reimbursed up to $500 toward travel expenses. All travel must occur during the academic year (October–June) following the summer award and receipts submitted no later than the first Monday in June 2015. NOTE: Students funded during the summer must have been registered/enrolled during the previous Spring Quarter and must be registered/enrolled during the following Fall Quarter. Otherwise, their summer funding will be cancelled, and it will have to be repaid.
Purpose	The GSRM Program is designed to provide financial support for doctoral students in the arts, humanities, social sciences, public health and nursing. A specific objective of the program is to promote opportunities for students to work closely with a faculty mentor in developing a paper for presentation at an academic conference and/or for publication. General goals are to facilitate close working relationships between faculty and students during the early stages of graduate education, to promote timely degree progress, and to encourage creative scholarship and research productivity.
Program Expectations	GSRM awardees are expected to complete and submit a draft of a paper (either single-authored by the student or co-authored with the faculty mentor) by the end of the summer through the GSRM Program Evaluation. This paper should be submitted for presentation at a professional conference and/or for publication sometime during the following academic year (October–June). It is expected that the faculty mentor will be in the same locale as the awardee during the summer and committed to working closely with the student. The Graduate Division will offer professional development activities (e.g., workshops on such topics as graduate school funding, human subjects protection, the publication process, career opportunities, making presentations, etc.), and awardees are expected to make every effort to participate in these activities. Awardees and mentors must complete program evaluation at the end of summer.

GSRM awardees usually may not work more than 25% time. Those wishing to work 26% to 50% time as a Graduate Student Researcher or in a combination of GSR and Academic Student Employee (ASE, e.g., Teaching Assistant, Reader) must submit the information listed in the Exception Request section below. No other work appointments above 25% will be allowed (e.g., no 50% TA appointments).

Preparing a Strong Application

- The mentoring relationship is a key component in this fellowship. The faculty mentor’s letter of recommendation must address the following:
 - Specific mentoring activities and plans that will prepare the applicant’s summer research for publication or conference presentation
 - A clear plan for meetings, progress reports, research development, and expectations for final paper to be presented at a conference and/or for publication
- The applicant’s research overview should be written so that the work will be understandable and its significance appreciated by faculty who may not be experts in the applicant’s field.
- The description of the research paper should present the following, as appropriate to the subject:
 - The question(s), thesis or hypothesis being addressed;
 - The project scope and the research approach, plan or methodology;
 - A synopsis of any preliminary findings, results and/or analysis;
 - The significance, originality and/or and impact of the work.
- The relevance and significance of the mentoring activities to the achieving the project goals should be clearly articulated.
- If you have already received a GSRM award, briefly describe how the award enabled you to advance your research skills and progress, and note any presentations and/or publications you have authored or co-authored since receiving the award. Explain why a second GSRM award is justified, as they are made only in exceptional cases.
- Reviewers will evaluate all applications holistically, with particular attention to the:
 - Overall quality of project and proposal
 - Applicant’s readiness for this mentoring fellowship
 - Applicant’s academic record, as reflected in his/her transcripts
 - Mentor’s recommendation

Conference Travel Reimbursement Request

All GSRM participants must submit the following to the Graduate Division Fellowships and Financial Services Office (1228 Murphy Hall) no later than the first Monday in June of the academic year following the summer award in order to qualify for the $500 travel allowance:

- Student Research & Travel Reimbursement Form (available at www.grad.ucla.edu/asis/stusup/travelform.pdf)
- Certificate of Completion of the online Collaborative Institutional Training Initiative (CITI) Training Program (ohrpp.research.ucla.edu/pages/certification)
- Graduate Division General Conditions for Student Travel (available at www.grad.ucla.edu/asis/stusup/travelcndtns.pdf)

NOTE: Students must meet UCLA travel policies (www.travel.ucla.edu). Awardees are not eligible to receive reimbursement while on leave of absence status.

Graduate Summer Research Mentorship and Graduate Research Mentorship awardees (including Cota-Robles2 awardees) may not receive the Research Travel Grant Pilot Program funding during the same year they are applying for their GSRM/GRM Conference Travel Reimbursement.

Eligibility

The program is open to doctoral students in the arts, humanities, social sciences, public health and nursing who:

1. Will have completed at least one year but no more than three years of UCLA doctoral study by the beginning of the summer.
2. Have not yet advanced to candidacy,
3. Are U.S. citizens or permanent residents or are registered California AB540 undocumented students. Funding will be provided only if AB131 is still in effect for the duration of the fellowship.
4. Have been enrolled/registered the previous Spring and will be enrolled/registered the following Fall. If these conditions are not met, the awardee will be required to repay the summer award.

Students who have incomplete grades that remain unresolved are expected to provide a statement explaining the reason for the incomplete(s), the steps that will be taken to resolve the incomplete(s), and the timeline for doing so.

Priority will be given to students currently in their first or second year of doctoral study and to students who would be first-time recipients of GSRM awards. Awardees of the Graduate Dean's Scholar Award, the National Science Foundation Graduate Research Fellowship Program, the Foreign Language & Area Studies (FLAS), National Institutes of Health (NIH) Training Grant and other summer fellowships are not eligible to receive GSRM funding at the same time as their other funding.

Students may apply for the GSRM in only one doctoral degree program and may receive the award only twice. Note that second awards are made only in exceptional cases.

Application Procedure

Students nominate themselves for this award. To apply:

1. Complete and submit the online application at www.grad.ucla.edu/asis/sfap/srmintro.htm.

2. Submit the following documents in the order listed as a PDF file emailed to uclafellowship@grad.ucla.edu. The file name should be “student’s last name, first name UID_[name of fellowship],” e.g., “Bruin, Josie 002002003_GSRM.” Do not include the letter of recommendation nor its cover form as part of the emailed PDF.
- Overview of Research Paper, prepared on the following form: www.grad.ucla.edu/asis/sfap/srmover.pdf. Be sure to sign the form; otherwise your application will be incomplete and ineligible for review. Describe the work you will do in the summer to prepare your research for presentation at a regional or national conference and potentially for publication. Include the mentoring activities in which you and your faculty mentor will engage. If you have already received a GSRM award, briefly describe the research progress, presentations and/or publications that resulted from that experience.
The document should be a maximum of two pages, single spaced, minimum font size 11 pt., with at least 1” margins. You may include images, graphs, or tables, as appropriate.
 - An unofficial copy of your Graduate Transcript with Fall 2013 grades posted. Do not submit an URSA report or a Degree Progress Report (DPR).
 - Resume or Curriculum Vitae.
 - The Graduate Fellowships Letter of Recommendation Cover Form (www.grad.ucla.edu/asis/stusup/letterrec.pdf) plus a signed letter on departmental letterhead from the faculty member who will serve as the mentor. The mentor does not have to be from the same department/program as the applicant. The mentor should describe the mentoring relationship and the paper that the student will complete during the summer. If a mentoring relationship has already been established between applicant and faculty member, the letter should distinguish between ongoing and additional mentoring activities that would occur during this period. Please submit the original of both the letter of recommendation and the cover form in a sealed envelope. Do not include in the PDF application. The letter of recommendation cover form should be signed by the applicant as well as by the recommender. If not, the application will be considered incomplete and ineligible for review.

Incomplete applications will not be accepted nor forwarded for review.

A single PDF of the documents listed in item 2, except the letter of recommendation, should be emailed to uclafellowship@grad.ucla.edu. The file name should be “student’s last name, first name UID_[name of fellowship],” e.g., “Bruin, Josie 002002003_GSRM.” The letter of recommendation and its cover form should be submitted to 1228 Murphy Hall as a hard copy in a sealed envelope with the writer’s name signed across the flap.

Application Status

Check the status of your application after you complete the online form (www.grad.ucla.edu/asis/flap/apply.htm). Please allow at least five business days after the deadline for our staff to log the information into the database.

Exception Request	GSRM awardees wishing to work 26% to 50% time as a Graduate Student Researcher (GSR) or in a combination of titles as a GSR and Academic Student Employee (ASE) (e.g., Teaching Assistant, Reader) must submit the information listed below in order for the request to be considered. Graduate Research Mentorship Program
Deadline	March 5, 2014 or as determined by your department
Amount	$20,000 stipend plus standard tuition and fees (excluding nonresident supplemental tuition and professional degree supplemental tuition).
Conference Travel	If invited to present the results of their collaborative activities at a conference held during the 2014–15 academic year, awardees will be reimbursed up to $500 toward their travel expenses.
Purpose	The Graduate Research Mentorship (GRM) Program is designed to assist students in acquiring and developing advanced research skills under faculty mentorship. The program is open to doctoral students in the arts, humanities, social sciences, public health and nursing. Faculty mentors are expected to be in the same locale as the student participants and assist them with research leading to the development of a doctoral dissertation.
Program Expectations	Awardees will be asked to submit a year-end program evaluation to the Graduate Division. Faculty mentors will also be asked to submit a year-end evaluation of their participation in the program. GRM awardees usually may not work more than 25% time. Those wishing to work

26% to 50% time as a Graduate Student Researcher or in a combination of GSR and Academic Student Employee (ASE, e.g., Teaching Assistant, Reader) must submit the information listed in the Exception Request section below. No other work appointments above 25% will be allowed (e.g., no 50% TA appointments).

Preparing a Strong Application

- The mentoring relationship is a key component in this fellowship. The faculty mentor’s letter of recommendation must address the following:
 - Specific mentoring activities that will advance the student’s research skills toward the preparation of a dissertation.
 - A clear plan for meetings, progress reports and expectations for final products/deliverables.
- The proposal should be written so that the work will be understandable and its significance appreciated by faculty who may not be experts in the applicant’s field.
- The proposal should outline, as appropriate to the subject:
 - The question(s), thesis or hypothesis that will be developed
 - The scope of the research and the research approach, plan or methodology
 - A synopsis of any preliminary findings, results and/or analysis;
 - The significance, originality and/or anticipated impact of the work.
- The relevance and significance of the mentoring activities to the achieving the project goals should be clearly articulated.
- If you have already received a GRM award, briefly describe how the award enabled you to advance your research skills and progress, and note any presentations and/or publications you have authored or co-authored since receiving the award. Explain why a second GRM award is justified, as they are made only in exceptional cases.
- Reviewers will evaluate all applications holistically, with particular attention to the:
 - Overall quality of project and proposal
 - Applicant’s readiness for this mentoring fellowship
 - Applicant’s academic record as reflected in his/her transcripts
 - Mentor’s recommendation

Conference Travel Reimbursement Request

All GRM participants must submit the following to the Graduate Division Fellowships & Financial Services Office (1228 Murphy Hall) no later than the first Monday in June in order to qualify for the $500 travel allowance reimbursement:

- Student Research & Travel Reimbursement Form (available at www.grad.ucla.edu/asis/stusup/travelform.pdf)
- Graduate Division General Conditions for Student Travel (available at www.grad.ucla.edu/asis/stusup/travelcndtns.pdf)

NOTE: Students must meet UCLA travel policies (www.travel.ucla.edu). Awardees are not eligible to receive reimbursement while on leave of absence status.

Graduate Summer Research Mentorship and Graduate Research Mentorship

awardees (including Cota-Robles2 awardees) may not receive the Research Travel Grant Pilot Program funding during the same year they are applying for their GSRM/GRM Conference Travel Reimbursement.

Eligibility

The program is open to doctoral students who:

1. Will have completed at least one but no more than three years of UCLA doctoral study by the beginning of the fellowship year. Priority will be given to students currently in year one or two of doctoral study, and to students who have not already received a GRM award.
2. Are not yet advanced to candidacy
3. Are U.S. citizens or permanent residents or are registered California AB540 undocumented students. Funding will be provided only if AB131 is still in effect for the duration of the fellowship.

Students who have incomplete grades that remain unresolved are expected to provide a statement explaining the reason for the incomplete(s), the steps that will be taken to resolve the incomplete(s), and the timeline for doing so.

Students from cultural, racial, linguistics, geographic and socioeconomic backgrounds that are currently underrepresented in graduate education are especially encouraged to participate in the program. Departments are encouraged to nominate students who contribute to the diversity mission of the University.

Students may apply for the GRM in only one doctoral degree program and may receive the award only twice. Note that second awards are made only in exceptional cases.

Application Procedure

Applicants must be nominated by their department, IDP or school. To apply for nomination, students must go to the 2014–15 Fellowship Application for Continuing Graduate Students site at www.grad.ucla.edu/asis/flap/apply.htm. There, upload a single PDF of the following documents (except the Letter of Recommendation Cover Form and the letter of recommendation) in the order listed. Give your home department the Letter of Recommendation Cover Form and the letter of recommendation in a sealed enveloped signed on the back flap by the recommender.

- A proposal describing the research question(s) or goal(s) and the scope of the research, the research training and/or activities, and the mentoring and collaborative activities that you and your faculty member will undertake during the award period. The proposal should be no more than four pages, double spaced, minimum font size 11 pt, with at least 1" margins. You may include images, graphs, tables, notes and/or references as appropriate.
- An unofficial transcript that includes Fall Quarter 2013 grades. Do not submit an URSA report or Degree Progress Report (DPR). If Fall Quarter is your first academic term at UCLA, please include an unofficial transcript from the last university attended.
- Your resume or curriculum vitae.
- The Graduate Fellowships Letter of Recommendation Cover Form

(www.grad.ucla.edu/asis/stusup/letterrec.pdf) plus a signed letter on departmental letterhead from the faculty member who will serve as the mentor. The mentor should describe the mentor relationship and the project that the student will carry out during the academic year. If a mentoring relationship has already been established between the applicant and faculty member, the letter should distinguish between ongoing and additional mentoring activities that would occur during this period. Please submit the original of both the letter of recommendation and the cover form in a sealed envelope. Do not include in the PDF. This form should be signed by the applicant as well as by the recommender. If not, the application will be incomplete and ineligible for review.

Exception Request GRM awardees wishing to work 26% to 50% time as a Graduate Student Researcher or in a combination of titles as a Graduate Student Researcher and Academic Student Employee (ASE) (e.g., Teaching Assistant, Reader) must submit the information listed below in order for the request to be considered. No other work appointments above 25% will be allowed.

1. An exception request on the Graduate Division Intranet (Jasmine) via their home department's Student Affairs Officer (SAO)/Staff Graduate Advisor.
2. Supplemental materials to the SAO, who will then forward them to the Fellowships & Financial Services Office:
 - An email/note explaining how the work will not negatively impact the summer research project.
 - An email/note from the faculty mentor authorizing the extra work.

Dissertation Year Fellowship Program
Deadline	February 19, 2014 or as determined by your department
Amount	$20,000 stipend plus standard tuition and fees (excluding nonresident supplemental tuition and professional degree supplemental tuition). For 2013–2014, there were approximately 200 fellowships awarded under this program. The number of fellowships for 2014–2015 will depend on available funding. Among the DYFs offered, up to five may be funded by the following programs: The Rosenfield–Abrams Dissertation Year Fellowship Fund

Two fellowships for exceptionally promising doctoral students in the humanities and social sciences. Each fellowship will offer a $21,000 stipend, mandatory standard tuition and fees (excluding nonresident supplemental tuition and professional degree supplemental tuition).

The Siegfried W. Ulmer Dissertation Year Fellowship

Up to three fellowships to support the dissertation year of European graduate students earning their doctoral degree at UCLA and who are in good academic standing. Priority will be given to candidates whose last name or whose mother's or grandmother's maiden name is Ulmer, Dehaene, Dalbera or Berenguer. United States citizens with the last name or whose mother's or grandmother's maiden name is Halldal are also eligible and are given priority. Each fellowship will offer a $20,000 stipend, mandatory standard tuition and fees (excluding nonresident supplemental tuition and professional degree supplemental tuition). This DYF is offered pending funding availability.

Research Allowance

Up to $500.00 is available as a reimbursement for dissertation expenses incurred during the tenure of your fellowship. The funds are paid in the form of a stipend. For international students, this means that appropriate taxes will be withheld.

Allowable expenses include: travel to a research site, expenses to attend a conference or professional meeting (travel, hotel [no stays in someone's home], fees), purchase of books, photocopying and dissertation copying costs, software/computer supplies/computer time, research supplies (e.g., audio/video tapes, chemicals, inexpensive electronic storage media, etc.), photographic supplies and professional journal reprints. Permanent equipment (computer hardware, cameras, etc.) purchases, dissertation filing fees and services that are part of the awardee's professional development (e.g., transcription services) will not be reimbursed.

Eligibility

This program is intended to support students in their final year of graduate school, at the dissertation writing stage and planning to start teaching or research appointments soon after the end of their dissertation fellowship year.

Award recipients should complete all degree requirements within 12 months of beginning their dissertation fellowships and will be asked to submit a report of their progress at the midpoint.

These and the submission and eligibility criteria also apply to Chancellor's Fellowship and Distinguished TA recipients activating their Dissertation Year Fellowship.

The following minimum standards must be met:

Students must be officially advanced to doctoral candidacy at the time they are nominated by their departments (usually one month after the student deadline).). “Officially” means ATC documents have been received by the Graduate Division’s Academic Services. Exception: Distinguished TA recipients have until mid-September to advance.

Students must file their dissertations within 12 months of beginning their fellowships.

No student who has previously received any dissertation fellowship from Graduate Division funds (such as, but not limited to, a Distinguished TA Dissertation Year Fellowship) is eligible for a Dissertation Year Fellowship. Students who have received dissertation funding from other sources of funding specifically for the last year of write-up also are not eligible.

Recipients must be registered and enrolled in at least 12 units during the entire academic year. Registration/enrollment is not required for summer payments. Awardees starting their DYF on July 1 must have been registered/enrolled in the previous Spring and must plan to register/enroll in the following Fall.

It is expected that students receiving the Dissertation Year Fellowship will not be employed more than 25% time, including those who activate in the summer. There are no exceptions to this policy. The primary consideration is that the additional employment will not adversely affect the student's degree completion.

Dissertation Year Fellows are not eligible to receive Graduate Division funding of any kind after the last DYF payment has been issued.

Students may apply for the DYF in only one doctoral degree program.

Application Procedure

Applicants must be nominated by their department, IDP or school. To apply for nomination, students must go to the 2014–15 Fellowship Application for Continuing Graduate Students site at www.grad.ucla.edu/asis/flap/apply.htm. There, upload a single PDF of the following documents (except the Letter of Recommendation Cover Forms and the letters of recommendation) in the order listed. Give your home department the Letter of Recommendation Cover Forms and the letters of recommendation in a sealed enveloped signed on the back flap by the recommender.

- The student’s proposed plan for completing the dissertation. Evidence that the student can successfully complete the dissertation in the year of the award is an important factor in the selection process. The student’s name and “Proposed Plan for Completing the Dissertation” should appear at the top of each page. The document should be no more than four pages (including notes and/or references), double spaced, no less than 11 pt font and 1" margins, and should describe or include:

- A brief abstract that summarizes in a manner appropriate to the subject or discipline:
 - motivation, context and/or foreground for the research;
 - question or hypothesis being addressed;
 - theoretical framework, experimental approach or research methodology;
 - preliminary findings;
 - innovation, significance and/or impact of the work.

Typically, the abstract is about 150 to a maximum of 300 words in length. It is essential that it be written for faculty who may not be expert in the student's field of research.

- A brief introduction that provides background and context for the work.
- A research plan that describes the current status of the research and the plan for addressing the remaining research aims/goals to complete the dissertation. This section may include images, graphs, and/or tables, if appropriate.
- If applicable, the plan should include information on sampling, instrumentation, data sources and collection, analyses and expected results. A synopsis of preliminary results or analyses may be incorporated as space permits.
- A detailed timeline with projected monthly progress for the remaining research, writing, revision and defense of the dissertation.
- An unofficial transcript that includes Fall Quarter 2013 grades. Do not submit a Degree Progress Report (DPR) or URSA report.
- The student's personal statement of career goals after receiving the degree (maximum two pages, double-spaced).
- The student's resume or curriculum vitae that includes the following, as appropriate to the discipline:
 - Education (degrees earned and in progress, with dates)
 - Extramural, departmental and Graduate Division awards, prizes and fellowships (include year and amount)
 - Published and submitted manuscripts, if any, while a doctoral student at UCLA. Provide full citations, including start/end pages. Do not include manuscripts in preparation.
 - Conference presentations, if any, while a doctoral student at UCLA. Indicate the conference date and place, and whether it was a poster or oral presentation. If there are multiple authors, place an asterisk by the name of the presenter.
 - Other creative, academic and professional contributions in the student's field, such as performances, exhibits, community and public service.
- Two signed letters of reference, on departmental letterhead, one of which must be from the dissertation adviser. References should emphasize academic accomplishments, degree progress and feasibility of completing the dissertation within the 12-month period proposed by the applicant. . The Graduate Fellowships Letter of Recommendation Cover Form (www.grad.ucla.edu/asis/stusup/letterrec.pdf) must be used. Please submit the original of both the letter of recommendation and the cover form in a sealed envelope. Do not include in the PDF. This form should be signed by the applicant as well as by the recommender. If not, the application will be incomplete and ineligible for review.

Awardees will have the option to select one of three DYF start dates: July 1, October 1 or January 1. Whichever start date is selected, the awardee will have 12 months during which to complete and file the dissertation. In the application, please propose one of these activation dates. This is not a firm commitment but is essential information for reviewers to evaluate the likelihood that the work will be completed within the proposed timeframe.

Note that the DYF award does not override the deadline by which you can file your dissertation nor the fee(s) you will have to pay as a result of when you file. More details can be found in the Standards and Procedures for Graduate Study at UCLA, which is available at www.gdnet.ucla.edu/gasaa/library/spfsgs.pdf.

See the chart below for details of the funding disbursement options.

Nominees are reviewed by faculty committees, and awards are announced by June.

Preparing a Strong Application

- The proposal should be written so that the work will be understandable and its significance appreciated by faculty who may not be expert in the applicant’s field.
- The proposal should outline, in a manner appropriate to the subject or discipline:
 - question(s), thesis or hypothesis that will be developed;

- scope of the research and the research approach, plan or methodology;
- significance, originality and/or anticipated impact of the work.
- An important review criterion is whether the applicant has provided substantial and compelling evidence that the dissertation can be completed within the funded year.
- Each letter of recommendation should address the merits (e.g., quality, originality, significance) of the scholarship or research, as well as the distinction of the applicant. The letter must clearly state the likelihood the applicant will complete the dissertation within the timeframe described in the applicant’s proposal.

Applying for the Distinguished TA DYF

Distinguished Teaching Assistants are eligible to apply for the Dissertation Year Fellowship for the coming academic year only. They should meet the eligibility criteria described above except that they have until the end of the last summer session term to advance to candidacy.

Distinguished TA DYF applicants should follow the Application Procedures already described.

Employment

- DYF awardees may only work 25% time. No exceptions will be granted.

Research Allowance Reimbursement Request

All DYF recipients must submit the following to the Graduate Division Fellowships & Financial Services Office (1228 Murphy Hall) no later than the appropriate deadline below in order to qualify for the $500 reimbursement:

- Student Research & Travel Reimbursement Form (available at www.grad.ucla.edu/asis/stusup/travelform.pdf)
- Graduate Division General Conditions for Student Travel (available at www.grad.ucla.edu/asis/stusup/travelcndtns.pdf)

NOTE: Students must meet UCLA travel policies (www.travel.ucla.edu). Awardees are not eligible to receive reimbursement while on leave of absence status.

Graduate Division Privately Endowed Fellowships

The following programs are privately endowed and have special eligibility requirements.

Deadline January 22, 2014 or as determined by your department

Application Procedures

Applicants must be nominated by their department, IDP or school. To apply for nomination, students must go to the 2014–15 Fellowship Application for Continuing Graduate Students site at www.grad.ucla.edu/asis/flap/apply.htm. There, upload a single PDF of the following documents (except the Letter of Recommendation Cover Form and the letter of recommendation) in the order listed. Give your home department the Letter of Recommendation Cover Form and the letter of recommendation in a sealed enveloped signed on the back flap by the recommender.

Those materials will include at least the items listed below, and perhaps more depending on the fellowship. Arrange the documents in the order listed. Be sure to read the confirmation page(s) carefully. Awards are not automatically renewable; students must apply yearly.

- An unofficial transcript showing Fall Quarter 2013 grades. An URSA report or Degree Progress report is not acceptable. If Fall Quarter is your first academic term at UCLA, please include an unofficial transcript from the last university attended.
- A statement of your eligibility for the fellowship(s) for which you are applying (maximum one page for each fellowship, double spaced, no less than 11 pt font and 1" margins).
- A personal statement of your goals, coursework completed and research activities (two pages, double spaced, no less than 11 pt font and 1" margins).
- A resume or curriculum vitae.

	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • A list of all extramural, departmental and Graduate Division awards you have received, including the year and amount awarded. • One faculty reference on department letterhead and signed by the faculty member. Ideally a supportive reference will describe the circumstances under which the faculty member has come to know about your work. It will go into detail regarding your unique academic strengths, your degree progress to date, your plans for graduate training at UCLA and your career goals after receiving your degree. It will also refer to your scholarly publications and professional accomplishments. The Graduate Fellowships Letter of Recommendation Cover Form must also be completed and submitted with the letter of recommendation. Please submit the original of both the letter of recommendation and the cover form in a sealed envelope. Do not include in the PDF. This form should be signed by the applicant as well as by the recommender. If not, the application will be incomplete and ineligible for review. • Applicants to the UCLA Affiliates and the UCLA Faculty Women’s Club Scholarships must submit additional materials. UCLA Affiliates Scholarships

Description These scholarships are awarded on the basis of academic credentials, a statement of career goals and/or research activities, campus and community activities, faculty recommendations and a personal interview. Recipients are selected by a committee of the Affiliates of UCLA. Students must be available during Spring Quarter for an interview.

Amount Several scholarships of $5,000 each, which are applied to standard tuition unless the awardee has another tuition-payment source.

Application Procedure Students from most schools, including the Anderson Graduate School of Management (PhD program only), the School of Arts & Architecture, and the Herb Alpert School of Music, should apply through their department, which may nominate them to the Graduate Division. Please select "UCLA Affiliates" on the Fellowship Application form if you wish to apply for this fellowship.

Students from the School of Theater, Film and Television; Law; Medicine; and Dentistry should apply only through their respective schools.

The following supplemental materials are required in addition to the ones listed at the start of the section on Privately Endowed Fellowships:

- An unofficial copy of your undergraduate transcript showing degree awarded
- An additional letter of recommendation (for a total of two). The Graduate Fellowships Letter of Recommendation Form (<http://grad.ucla.edu/asis/stusup/letterrec.pdf>) must also be completed and submitted with the letter of recommendation in a sealed envelope. Do not include in the PDF. This form should be signed by the applicant as well as by the recommender. If not, the application will be incomplete and ineligible for review.

UCLA Faculty Women's Club Scholarships

Amount Several graduate scholarships up to $2,500 each, which are applied to standard tuition unless the awardee has another tuition-payment source.

Eligibility UCLA Faculty Women's Club (FWC) Scholarships are offered to males and females in any area of study that is within the UCLA Graduate Division. There is one special scholarship in engineering and another special scholarship for a student who is majoring in a scientific field related, allied or of value to the medical field.

Every other year, the FWC also awards one scholarship to a full-time student who is the spouse of a member of the UCLA full-time faculty or administration. This scholarship may be available in 2014-2015.

Also available is a scholarship for the direct descendant (child, step or adopted child, grandchild) of a UCLA full-time or retired full-time member of the UCLA faculty or administration.

Students must have at least a 3.5 GPA to apply for FWC Scholarships. Entering and continuing graduate students are encouraged to apply. Applicants must also demonstrate financial need, as determined by the Financial Aid Office. U.S. citizens and permanent residents should complete a FAFSA form at www.fafsa.ed.gov and submit a copy of Web Submission Confirmation. International students should complete the UCLA Financial Statement at www.grad.ucla.edu/gss/library/taxintro.htm.

Applicants must be available for an interview in the Spring.

Special Application Procedure

A complete application will include the following:

- A completed application form (available at www.grad.ucla.edu/asis/flap/apply.htm)
- A one-page explanation of your academic goals at UCLA (and beyond if applicable) and of your personal goals, including how you plan to contribute to society.
- An unofficial undergraduate transcript that shows degree awarded.
- An unofficial graduate transcript that includes Fall 2013 grades (an URSA report or Degree Progress Report [DPR] is not acceptable).
- A resume or curriculum vitae.
- A list of all extramural, departmental and Graduate Division awards you have received, including the year and amount awarded.
- Two faculty references on department letterhead and signed by the writer. Ideally, a supportive reference will describe the circumstances under which the faculty member has come to know about your work; it will go into detail regarding your unique academic strengths, your degree progress to date, your plans for graduate training at UCLA, and your career goals after receiving your degree; and, it will refer to your scholarly publications and professional accomplishments. Must also use the Graduate Fellowships Letter of Recommendation Cover Form available at www.grad.ucla.edu/asis/stusup/letterrec.pdf. Include letter and form in a sealed envelope. Do not include in the PDF. The form should be signed by the applicant as well as by the recommender. If not, the application will be incomplete and ineligible for review.
 - Include your name, address and local contact telephone number

Deadline	February 5, 2014
Description	Open to current graduate students with a demonstrated interest in African American, American Indian, Asian American, or Chicana/o studies to aid in completion of a thesis or dissertation. We especially encourage applications that advance our understanding of new social and cultural realities occasioned by the dramatic population shifts of recent decades, including greater heterogeneity within ethnic groups and increased interethnic contact. Due to budget constraints, neither the American Indian Studies Center nor the Chicano Studies Research Center will be awarding a 2014–2015 Graduate/Predoctoral Fellowship. Application for the fellowship in African American Studies is open only to doctoral students who will have advanced to candidacy by the beginning of the fellowship year. Restrictions apply regarding acceptance of supplemental employment and/or other awards during the fellowship year.
Amount	Contingent upon funding availability, the terms of awarded fellowships may range from one to three quarters and will cover in-state tuition and fees plus a maximum stipend of $6,000 per quarter. The acceptance of a fellowship carries with it the commitment to make a contribution to the activities of the sponsoring Ethnic Studies Research Center.
Application Procedure	For further information, contact the individual ethnic studies center to which you are interested in applying or contact the IAC Coordinator at IACcoordinator@conet.ucla.edu. Application is available at www.iac.ucla.edu/fellowships_graduate.html.

Institute of American Cultures Research Grant Program in Ethnic Studies
Deadline	April 22, 2014 for the grant period July 1, 2014 through May 31, 2015.
Description	The Institute of American Cultures invites applications for support of research on African Americans, American Indians, Asian Americans, and Chicanas/os. The Institute also invites proposals on interethnic relations that will increase collaboration between the Centers and/or between the Centers and other campus units.
Amount	The Research Grant Program is funded on a reimbursement basis only. Ordinarily, faculty projects will be funded for no more than $10,000 and graduate student/staff projects for no more than $7,000. However, due to budgetary constraints, awards are typically for lesser amounts. Funds for the purchase of permanent equipment will be provided only under exceptional circumstances. Conference travel, whether the applicant is presenting or attending, is ineligible.
Eligibility	UCLA faculty, staff, graduate students and IAC Visiting Scholars/Researchers are eligible to apply.
Application Procedure	Prior to submission of the application, applicants should discuss their proposal with the assistant director or director of the appropriate Center, or in the case of interethnic proposals, with each applicable Center. All grant recipients, where appropriate, must comply with UCLA's Protection of Human Subjects in Research before receiving funding. For further information, contact the individual ethnic studies center to which you are interested in applying or contact the IAC Coordinator at IACcoordinator@conet.ucla.edu. Application is available at www.iac.ucla.edu/fellowships_research.html. Applications and supplementary materials will be accepted via email as a PDF attachment or via mail to the IAC Coordinator at the Ethnic Studies Research Center most appropriate to the area of research.

UC Pacific Rim Research Program (PRRP)

Deadline	UCLA deadline for Advanced Graduate Research Fellowship: December 6, 2013
-----------------	---

Purpose	The Pacific Rim Research Program is a UC system-wide program that promotes the study of the Pacific Rim as a distinctive region. The program places priority on research that is new, specific to the region and collaborative-reaching across national boundaries and bridging academic disciplines.
----------------	---

Amount	Advanced Graduate Research Fellowships up to $20,000 to support graduate students in a year of dissertation research or its equivalent.
---------------	--

Eligibility	Students must be advanced to candidacy by September 2014. For the purposes of this program, “Pacific Rim” encompasses all areas and nations that border the Pacific Ocean, including Southeast Asia and East Asia, Australia/New Zealand, the Pacific islands and Pacific Latin America. Proposals may come from any discipline in the humanities, social sciences, natural sciences, public health or some combination thereof. Research may focus on humans in relationship to the built or natural environment, transcultural and historical constructions of the human, human–nonhuman interactions, cultural geography, transnational migrations, economic expansion, regional agricultural development, environmental health and human disease or other themes. Proposals should address questions that contribute to an understanding of the Pacific Rim region as a whole.
--------------------	--

Application Procedure	UCLA applications must be submitted via the Asia Institute online application system at http://apply.international.ucla.edu/?ai . For more information, see the Asia Institute website at international.ucla.edu/asia or the PRRP website at pacrim.ucsc.edu .

Hiroshi Wagatsuma Memorial Fellowships
Deadline	March 26, 2014
Description	The Wagatsuma Fellowship was created in honor of the late UCLA Anthropology Professor Hiroshi Wagatsuma, who for many years served as an important bridge of mutual understanding between students and academics in Japan and the United States. He pursued cross-cultural studies in anthropology, psychology, sociology and law until his death in 1985.
Amount	Several awards up to $6,000
Eligibility	Current UCLA graduate students in good standing working on a dissertation or comparable research project with a substantial cross-cultural or comparative dimension, preferably one concerning Japan or other Asian country and North America. Applications should discuss how the proposal meets the requirements of the award to continue in the spirit of Professor Wagatsuma’s work. Minimum GPA of 3.0. Each application must be accompanied by a proposal of two–three pages in length, an unofficial UCLA transcript (not URSA), two letters of recommendation, current C.V. and budget.

Application Procedure

Submit an online application via the Asia Institute website:
<http://apply.international.ucla.edu/?ai>).

Include:

- Two- to three-page proposal, single spaced
- an unofficial UCLA transcript (not URSA), scanned as a PDF and uploaded
- Current CV
- Budget
- two letters of recommendation (provide faculty names and email addresses)

The Wagatsuma fellowships are considered together with the Asia Institute graduate fellowships. Students indicate which award they are applying for in the online application and may apply for both awards at the same time.

Extramural Fellowships

Extramural Fellowships are fellowships available from non-UCLA sources.

Fellowship Databases

UCLA Graduate Division: Graduate and Postdoctoral Extramural Support (GRAPES)

The Graduate Division maintains the Graduate and Postdoctoral Extramural Support (GRAPES), an online database of approximately 700 fellowships that are available from non-UCLA sources. Advanced search options allow users to refine their search by field, Academic Level, Award Type, Award Amount, and other criteria. Visit www.grad.ucla.edu/grpinst.htm.

The Graduate Division also offers an e-mail notification service that announces extramural funding opportunities available for graduate study, travel abroad, dissertation and postdoctoral research.

To Subscribe:

1. Visit the Gradfellowships-L list subscription page at:
<http://lists.ucla.edu/cgi-bin/mailman/listinfo/gradfellowships-l>
2. Enter your e-mail address, name (optional), password, and click the “Subscribe” button.
3. You will then see the Subscription Results Page with a message stating “your subscription request has been received.” It will also mention that you need to confirm your subscription via e-mail.
4. Check your e-mail for a message from gradfellowships-l@lists.ucla.edu. To confirm your subscription, either reply to the message or click the web link listed to visit the confirmation page.
5. The list is open to UCLA graduate students, staff and faculty. Please note that it is not an online forum, and users cannot post messages to the list.

Supplementary Support for Portable Fellowship Recipients

Effective July 1, 2009, the Portable Supplement program was discontinued. The Graduate Division will honor all Portable Supplements that were encumbered in prior years.

Selected Extramural Fellowships

For your convenience, descriptions of selected extramural programs, some of which need nomination by the Graduate Division, are included in the following section. These descriptions and information regarding Application Procedures are organized according to the following categories: Early Graduate Study Fellowships, Dissertation Fellowships, Study Abroad Fellowships and Extramural Funding for Foreign Nationals.

These lists of extramural fellowships are not exhaustive and are provided for informational purposes only. The Graduate Division does not accept responsibility for any information here that might differ from that of the funding agency. Students should check with the agency to confirm award descriptions, eligibility and deadlines.

If the student is an awardee of an extramural fellowship administered by the Graduate Division (e.g., Ford Foundation Predoctoral Diversity Fellowship, National Science Foundation Graduate Research Fellowship), the maximum number of working hours is generally 10 hours/week (25%). In addition, some extramural fellowships require preauthorization for work regardless of the number of hours per week. Please check with Fellowships & Financial Services (uclafellowship@grad.ucla.edu / 310-825-1025) before accepting any position to find out the policies for your particular fellowship.

Outside Sources of Funding for International Students
www.gse.harvard.edu/admissions/financial_aid/international/funding.html

Financial Aid

The University of California recognizes that the cost of a university education may present a financial hardship to many graduate students. Therefore, students who require assistance in meeting education costs should apply for aid based on their financial need. The Financial Aid Office is responsible for administering work-study and loans for graduate students. The Financial Aid Office is located in A-129J Murphy Hall. Additional information is available at www.fao.ucla.edu.

Application Procedure

Applying for financial aid (work-study and/or loans) is a separate procedure from applying for the other support described in this booklet.

UCLA requires all students to complete a Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA). Students should submit the FAFSA by March 2 to ensure maximum funding consideration from university, state and federal sources. To complete a FAFSA, visit www.fafsa.ed.gov. Continuing applicants can use their federal PIN to access their Renewal FAFSA.

Students are encouraged to review the Financial Aid Handbook (usually available in January), available on the FAO website: www.fao.ucla.edu (click on FAO Publications). International students who hold F-1 student visas or other temporary visas are not eligible to apply for financial aid at UCLA. They are urged, therefore, to make every effort to secure funds from other sources.

UCLA adheres to a need-analysis system enacted by the U.S. Congress to determine how much a family should be expected to provide toward educational costs. This expected contribution is subtracted from the estimated cost of education to determine a student's "financial need." This need is met by need-based loans, work-study and in some cases by a graduate fellowship. The expected contribution will also be converted to non-need-based federal loan eligibility by the Financial Aid Office. Students who receive fellowships, scholarships, sponsorships or other outside aid will have their financial aid packages adjusted and/or replaced by these latter awards. Students are strongly advised to consult with the Financial Aid Office should such an action occur.

Student expense budgets are designed by the Financial Aid Office to provide students with a modest but realistic standard of living. Housing costs in the area adjacent to the University are high; it is assumed that single students living off campus will share apartments. Budgets are reviewed and updated each year to reflect changes in the cost of living. Average allowable cost for graduate students living in an off-campus apartment for the 2013–2014 academic year is $36,379. This figure includes the cost of tuition, health insurance, books and supplies, room and board, travel and personal expenses. An additional $15,102 is charged for all nonresident students, increasing student's total annual cost to $51,481.

Students who have submitted the FAFSA will subsequently receive an electronic Financial Aid Notification (eFAN) detailing their financial need and offer of financial aid in the summer before the start of their academic year.

Financial Aid Disbursements

The Financial Aid Office will verify enrollment status before disbursing financial aid to your Billing and Receivables System (BAR) account. You must be enrolled or wait listed at least half-time (4 units) in order to receive your financial aid disbursements. If you are not enrolled, financial aid will not be credited to your BAR account.

William D. Ford Federal Direct Loan Program (DLP)

Students who are eligible for Direct Loan Program, which includes Direct Unsubsidized and PLUS Loans, are e-mailed information via the electronic Financial Aid Notification (eFAN). These low-interest, long-term loans are funded by the U. S. Department of Education. Applications and disbursements are processed electronically. Direct Loan guides are included with the eFAN and should be reviewed carefully before student decides to borrow federal loans.

Loan refunds are released to students' bank accounts via electronic funds transfer (EFT) if the borrower is signed up for Bruin Direct with UCLA Student Financial Services. Refund checks are mailed to students who are not signed up for Bruin Direct.

First-time borrowers must complete a Master Promissory Note with the U.S. Department of Education at www.StudentLoans.gov and must complete a Debt Management Session with Student Loan Services at www.loans.ucla.edu before their loans can be disbursed.

Graduate Work-Study Program (GWSP) (pending funding availability)

Provides federal work-study grants to “financially need eligible” U.S. citizen and permanent resident graduate students to complete on- or off-campus part-time paid internships, community service, research projects or other endeavors closely related to their academic degree program. Graduate students working on a research project in their discipline qualify for funding. Students are encouraged to seek out positions and apply for Graduate Work-Study Program funding as early as possible. A 2014-2015 FAFSA must be submitted by March 2, 2014 in order to be considered. For more information, contact the Financial Services Office, 1228 Murphy Hall, (310) 825-1025, www.grad.ucla.edu/gss/library/gwspintro.htm.
